Main Game Loop

Input State | Board | Score | Display

Brainstorming

Tile

→ Trigger update from mouse/keyboard

My overall design does not follow this layout perfectly. Technically I only have two classes which are my Main class and Tile. Tile is called from the main class where I create a tile object that then creates a board. Most logic is held within the main class.